MILLIONAIRE'S SON
SAYS FRIEND STOLE
LOVE OF HIS WIFE

Spoke to Him About It and
That Failing, Sues for $50,000.

After seeing his friend, Robert Bates, concerning Mrs. Langshaw, Alford C. Langshaw, millionaire son of the Dartmouth and the Bristol Manufacturing Corporations of New Bedford, Mass., he is now suing him for $50,000 damages for alleged alienation of affections.

Langshaw is a son of Walter Hamer Langshaw, millionaire head of the Dartmouth and the Bristol Manufacturing Corporations of New Bedford, Mass. He is now a representative of his father's corporations. Bates is connected with a cloth importing concern at No. 315 Fourth Avenue. Both live at Ridgewood, N. Y., and belong to the colony of New York business men there.

In his complaint Langshaw says he was married to Marian J. Langshaw in New Bedford, July 12, 1910, and that two children were born. They lived happily until they moved to Ridgewood, where they made the acquaintance of Bates, who frequently called and professed to be a good friend of Langshaw, the complaint says.

As a result of this acquaintance, the plaintiff sets forth, Bates "slandered, wrongfully and maliciously and with intent to injure this plaintiff and deprive him of his wife's affection and society, alienated her affections."

Langshaw further asserts he has reason to believe Bates acted in his capacity as a friend and confidant of his wife, and that he has been and will be a constant source of trouble and worry to him.

His case becomes that July 22 last he was generally watched and his movements followed by Bates and his wife.

Moreover, they spoke of the plaintiff to his wife, who admitted that the plaintiff's wife assured the defendant that she cared for him more than she did for her husband and would willingly do anything she could for him.

After sitting on the porch while Alford C. Langshaw, he saw the couple go into the house, where they remained with the lights out until late in the night. Next day Langshaw took Bates to task and the latter told him the visitor must have been some one else, as he had been there the previous evening, according to Langshaw.

Langshaw says he put the matter up to his wife, who admitted her caller was Bates, and then taking her two children she left the house. He hasn't seen her since and does not know where she is.

ABDUCTED IN AUTO,
SHOT AND ROBBED,
BOOKKEEPER SAYS

George Conley, Dazed, Found Himself in Front of Naval Hospital.

George Conley, seventeen years old, of No. 876 East Fifteenth Street, Brooklyn, applied early today at the Naval Hospital, Flushing Avenue and Myerson Street, for treatment for a gunshot wound in the right hand and contusions on the scalp. Brooklyn Police Headquarters was notified and he was taken to the Cumberland Street Hospital, where he told this story:

"I am a bookkeeper for Herman Benner & Co., at No. 123 West Street, Wallabout Market. Yesterday afternoon at 2:45 I left the office with $798—$309 in bills and the rest in checks—for the Franklin Trust Company, at Washington and Flushing Avenues. "At 3 and Washington Avenues an automobile drew up to the curb. A stockily built man of thirty-five, in a blue serge suit, got out and asked me if I worked for Benner. I told him I did, and before I could say anything else I was pushed into the car and seized by two men inside. One pressed a handkerchief over my face and the other held me until I lost my senses.

"When I came to I could see country scenery flashing by. I tried to get out, but the men grabbed me and one pointed a revolver. In the struggle it went off and I again lost consciousness. When next I came to I was sitting on the curb in front of the Naval Hospital. I don't know how I got there or how long I had been there."

Detective Michael Regan reported he found the checks Conley was sent to deposit in the bank in an inside pocket. In a coat pocket were the bullets from three .38 calibre shells. There was no money. Conley said he never saw the bullets before. He is a son of James Conley, a wealthy shipper of Milton, N. Y., and came here three months ago to accept a position with the Benner company on recommendation of one of its agents who had met him in Milton. His employers told the police they believed the story. The police want to investigate it further.

One afternoon twenty-six years ago, Rev. George S. Baker of No. 206 West One Hundred and Seventh Street was passing through a ward of St. Luke's Hospital. The testatrix called to him, telling him she feared she would die and saying she wished to make a will. She wanted to give the money to the clergyman, then chaplain of the hospital, but he suggested the shelter and the document was so drawn. The clergyman forgot the incident until the executor sought him out. The decedent left no relatives.
